VOL. XV, No. 42

BLAIRMORE, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1924.

$2.00 PER ANNUM

Forest rangers in the State of Washington have discovered that by using the branches of trees instead of the customary antenna they can send radio messages over a distance of two or three miles. All they have to do is to drive a copper nail into the trunk of a tree; connect the sending instrument with it and begin to send. Experiments are now in progress to increase the efficiency of the contrivance, which should prove of great service in enabling rangers to keep in touch with their stations and with one another.

Rev. S. Middleton, of St. Paul's Mission, Blood Reserve, will conduct service at St. Luke's church, Blairmore, on Sunday next, October 19th. Matins and Holy Communion at 11 o'clock a.m.

MINING INSTITUTE CONVENTION

The sixth annual western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy opened here this forenoon, with about one hundred and fifty delegates from various points of the Dominion, particularly the western provinces and States, being in attendance.

The sessions of the convention are being held at the Greenhill Grill Room, and many matters of interest to mining will be given consideration during the two days.

At noon today, a grand banquet will be given at the Cosmopolitan hotel under the auspices of the Board of Trade and Town of Blairmore, and tomorrow at noon a luncheon will be served at the same hotel under the auspices of the Institute.

On Friday evening the party will be the guests of the Operators' Association to a smoker and banquet at the Greenhill Grill.

On Saturday morning a special train will be made up here for Kimberley, leaving Blairmore about 3 a.m. Sleepers will be available at 10 p.m. on Friday. Special return fare will be $7.10, plus berth-rate. Return will be made per regular train.

At Kimberley, the party will be the guests of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, Limited, who will entertain them to a luncheon and a visit to their new works.

J. A. McLeod, of Evansburg, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Davies as mine superintendent for the International Coal Company at Coleman.

Proceeds of teachers' annual dance will go towards the purchase of a gramophone for the public school. The teachers and high-school pupils will cater.

OPERATORS AND MINERS REACH A SETTLEMENT

The conference of representatives of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and Miners of District 18, U.M.W. of A., arrived at a tentative agreement on Thursday last. The basis of settlement includes the following:

Cut of $1.17 daily on contract miners' wages (the war bonus).

Cut of 12½ per cent on wages of day men.

Three-year agreement.

Proviso that agreement may be concluded upon a six-month notice from either party.

A referendum vote of the miners of the district is being taken today, and while considerable influence is being exerted in the various camps against acceptance, it is generally felt that the terms will be acceptable to the majority.

W. A. Sherman, president of District 18, addressed meetings throughout the district the early part of the week.

CONVICTIONS OF I. W. W. MEMBERS QUASHED BY JUDGE

The convictions of two members of the I. W. W. for vagrancy have been quashed by Judge Winter, the same decision being arrived at by him as was given by Judge MacDonald in Macleod recently.

The convictions appealed against, which came up for hearing on Monday morning, were those of James L. Peterson and John McLeod, both of whom are Canadians. Both Peterson and McLeod were convicted by Police Magistrate L. O'Connor, at Drumheller, and sentenced to thirty days each in Lethbridge jail.

Five witnesses were called for the crown, Constable R. J. Connor, A. P. P., of Drumheller; S. Gross, Charlie Lang and Homer N. Jongs, all of Rosebud; and S. M. Taber, reeve of the municipality of Rosebud. The evidence given was to the effect that both of the accused had lived in Rosebud for a week in August and had not been working during that time. They were living at a restaurant belonging to Charlie Lang, a Chinaman, and owed him $11 at the time they were arrested. Both carried membership cards in the I.W.W., but this was not brought out in the evidence for the crown. The crown was content with the evidence that the accused were residing in Rosebud without work and that money was owing for their board.

At the conclusion of the case for the prosecution, Judge Winter quashed both convictions without calling on any evidence for the defense, and without hearing counsel. The usual order was made protecting the magistrate against payment of costs.

Both Peterson and McLeod had served about a week in jail before they were released on bail pending appeal.

James Short, K.C., represented the crown, and the accused were defended by John S. Mavor, K.C., who was instructed to act in their defense by the I.W.W.—Alberta.

DEATH OF WILLIAM CRAYFORD

The death of William Crayford, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of the Foothills district, occurred at his ranch, six miles north of Lumbreck, at an early hour on Sunday morning.

Mr. Crayford had reached the ripe old age of eighty-four, but up to very recently had enjoyed robust health. He had been a resident of the district for about twenty years, and is survived by a loving aged wife, six sons and two daughters. Roal and Fred, of Blairmore, are sons.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, the remains being laid to rest in the Livingstone cemetery, Rev. Donaldson officiating.

DEATH OF MR. C. COOKE-YARBOROUGH

The death occurred at the ranch, near the South Fork, at an early hour of yesterday, of Mr. C. Cooke-Yarborough, one of the pioneer ranchers and farmers of the district, and one who has always maintained the highest esteem and respect of all with whom he became acquainted.

Mr. Cooke-Yarborough recently underwent an operation for tumor on the brain, which for a time was thought would prove successful. But of late his condition grew gradually worse, till the past few weeks when death was quite expected.

He is survived by a loving wife and twelve-year-old son.

Mr. Cooke-Yarborough was about forty-five years of age and a native of England.

Funeral will likely take place on Saturday.

YOUTHFUL EYESIGHT IS IMPAIRED BY HOMEWORK

Eyesight is the cause of many cases of physical degeneration in school children, according to Montague Stall, optometrist, who writes today to The Tribune, strongly opposing homework.

No loss would result from removal of homework from the child's daily programme, but greater efficiency would be the result during the school hours, Mr. Stall declares.

This is his statement: It has long been recognized by optometrists and others to whom the care of the eyes has been surrendered, that requirements of school life resulted in the injury to the eyes of many of the children.

Investigations have been carried on in nearly all the European countries, and America, and the consensus of opinion is that the constant application of the child's eyes for near work, frequently resulted in increased refraction known as Myopia, due either to excessive functioning of the focusing muscles, or to the pressure of the converging muscles on the sides of the eyeballs, or to both these conditions.

It is obviously important not only that the mental and moral training of children should be wisely conducted, but that great care should be exercised during the years of school life, which are also the years of physiological growth.

It is to be expected that some degree of physical deterioration will result from depriving young children of the freedom of the playground and outdoor life, and subjecting them to the confinement and tasks of the room; but observation has shown that a large number of those who enter upon the educational process in apparently good health, soon show impaired general vigor and imperfect sight.

Much has been done to improve the hygienic environment of the school room so that the work will rest as lightly as possible on the growing child.

But the greatest possible care as to the arrangement of our schools cannot remove the evils which attend the child at home.

During the winter months especially, the lessons at home must be prepared by the aid of artificial light, and sometimes in the midst of the family circle.

The child is generally left to his own arrangement of light and book, and there will be no attention paid to the relation of the height of chair and table, or the position assumed in reading or writing.

Three and sometimes four lessons must be prepared at home each evening, and when this work is added to the session at school, it is obvious that the school life of the child becomes a burden which rests heavily upon the young shoulders with a continuity almost unbroken for nearly 10 hours daily.

It is not surprising therefore, that the eyes of a good many children should give way under the strain of so many hours of work, most of which is reading and writing.

It is an evil to require a tired, drowsy and anxious child to work over books in the close atmosphere of the family room, until overcome by exhaustion.

An evening spent in this manner must be followed by restless sleep, only to be met with an equally disturbing condition the next day.

Even at the cost of less rapid progress in their educational work, I am convinced that a decided reform is necessary in this matter.

It is probable, however, that no loss would be sustained, since freedom from restraint and the opportunity for exercise in the evenings, would add efficiency to the work in the school room.

It would seem reasonable to contend that five or six hours daily devoted to school, from the age of six or eight years to that of sixteen or eighteen, should be sufficient to prepare the young student for either college or business, without infringing so seriously upon the home life of the child, and employing in study time which should be devoted to recreation.

J. H. Curle, secretary of the Manitoba branch of the Retail Merchants' Association, said: "There are two sides to the question. At the best it is a controversy. As far as homework is concerned, the big thing is—is it overdone? Personally, I think that a moderate amount of homework is desirable.

"Another point is that children who have no responsibility may develop into a nuisance. I believe that work is the finest institution in the country. A part of education should be to teach children to work, and homework is aimed at that very thing.

"The child who is not required to concentrate on homework may come under the classification of a privileged child. Many a young fellow who is allowed to come and go as he likes, when he is put down a definite piece of work, finds that he cannot concentrate for more than a few moments at a time."

R. D. Bruce: "I am surprised at some of the statements of the wise ones on school work at home.

"In my 40 years residence in this city, the 'go-getters' that shine now are the ones who stayed home nights and got up their school work.

"I wouldn't sacrifice the 'doing homework around the kitchen table' for all your C.G.I.T., Scouts, Cubs or movies; 'keep the boys on the farm'—I say, 'keep the children in the home nights, with homework—but keep them in at all costs.'—Winnipeg Tribune.

SOLITUDE

Solitude in reasonable measure is good for the soul, but there are many people who have too much of it. The working out of the law that to him that hath shall be given finds no better illustration than in the apportionment of solitude. To the active, confident, successful person it is a condition so abnormal as to require a special effort in order to attain it, yet persons who have what the psychologists are now accustomed to term "an inferiority complex" have to make an even harder effort in order to escape from the solitary habit of mind and soul that is the outgrowth of unsuccess. They are solitary even when they are not sufficiently individual to make a definite and interesting impression.

Since solitude has invariably a chastening influence on the mind, it is bad for people who are already too heavily chastened by the circumstances of life. For the same reason, it is good for people who are too self-confident, too well satisfied with their affairs and with their relation to the world.

Sometimes persons who are ostensibly desirous of solitude find that they cannot endure it. They seek escape from it in books or in music or in chance companions. Books, music and companions all have an honorable and useful part in life; but a solitude in which there is nothing to distract the mind from meditation has something to offer that those who are so instantly afflicted by it can never enjoy. It is in solitude that creative thought has its birth. In solitude also the spirit of nature and man has its most complete development. Even if our lives have to be concerned most of the time with material things, even if power for creative thought does not seem to be one of our native endowments, withdrawing occasionally into solitude is likely to make us more perceptive of the spiritual values of life.—Ex.

JUST A TALK

A few days ago a neighbor dropped in to have a friendly chat. Leaving his car at our back gate, he started for the office, when from behind the outhouse appeared the goat. Biddy, who, since the severe pounding she received a few weeks ago, makes her home in the back lane, had just awoke from a beautiful sleep and was looking for a drink. Before going to school, some boys had filled a large washtub and left it for her close by. As the goat advanced our guest retreated; when he stopped, so did Nanny. Finally, Mistah Man decided to be a good soldier and retire with his face to the foe. As he went backwards, we carefully counted his steps—one, two, three, hesitated for a moment, then sat down—right in that ice-cold water. "Great snakes alive!" yelled the angry man, as he seized a sixteen-inch monkey wrench and started in pursuit. "If I can get one swat at that white imp in darkness I'll send some good bait to the guy who stole the fish pond at Coweys." A few minutes after the armistice was signed, Biddy was perched on the highest pinnacle of Goat Mountain, dreaming no doubt, of her childhood days. The scribe was engaged in repairing a portion of his kilt, which had been damaged in separating the two duellists, and as we played our needle with awkward fingers the truth of this was forced upon us.

If a guy owns the right kind of a goat, he can turn this old dump earth into a veritable hotbed of joy. When you can carry out your public and private duties without fear of adverse criticism; when you can accept the glories and gifts of dame fortune without a smile or whimper; you won't have to care whether the axes of the world be pressed or not. Self respect will come to you, and it is one of the gifts from the Gods. It will hold you in the path of duty despite the oft repeated assaults of temptation; it will be your stronghold in the hour of threatened disaster and be a source of inspiration to others in their hour of bitter need. Cultivate and nurse it. Remember that although heredity and environment play a part in our lives, man must always be the caretaker of his own destiny. The world began this way—so it will be until the end.

WHY BIRDS GO SOUTH

Scarcity of insects, owing to the approach of winter, and not cold weather, causes birds to start south when the frosts arrive, according to a western scientist. Seed or flesh-eating food, unaffected by the lack of bugs, survive all year as far north as the Arctic Circle. While migrations are largely determined by the food supply, it is believed that habits inherited from the glacial ages partly influence some species. The tern makes a continuous 11,000-mile flight between the polar regions of the north and south, while the golden plover, which spends its summers in the Arctic and its winters in South America, goes first to Nova Scotia as it starts southward, and then flies 2400 miles to Brazil.—Popular Mechanics.

Worthy of Solomon

A man left his property to be equally divided between his two sons. Not being able to agree, they sought an arbitrator. He said to the elder: "You are the elder, are you not?" "Yes," was the answer. "So you shall divide the property." "You are the younger," continued the arbitrator to the other, "so you shall have the first choice."

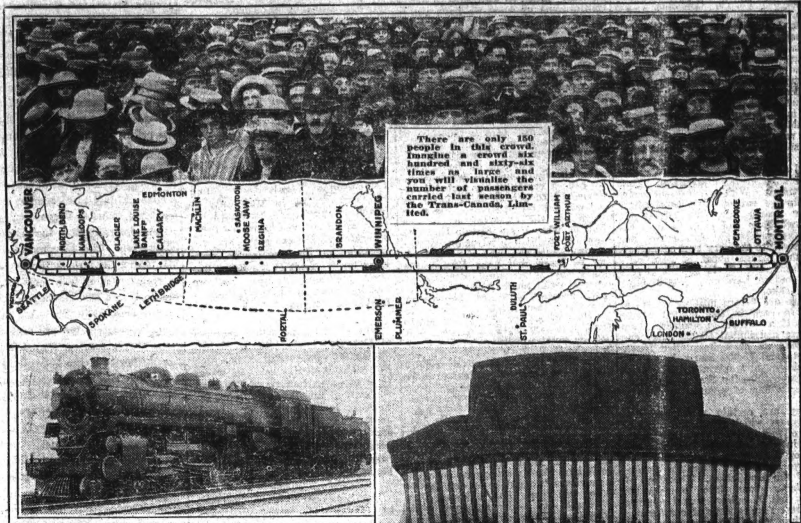

This was an absolutely even division assured.

THE FAT WOMAN IN PANTS

The chief thing knickerbockers have done by way of helping to bring on the present wave of unrest is to destroy a lot of illusions which man have been treasuring for generations.—The Trail News.

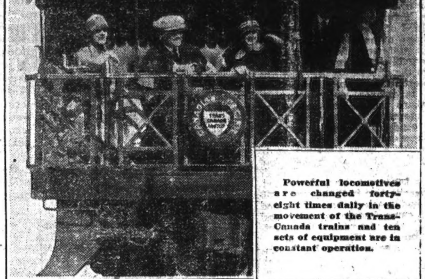

A shipment of two carloads of buffalo hides left Wainwright, Alberta, via Canadian National Railway, for Quebec, to be made into robes for auto and sleigh-riding purposes. These were from the buffalo killed in the big drive last spring, when the government decided that the size of the herd in the National Park should be reduced.

THIS SEASON'S TRANS-CANADA MILEAGE EQUALLED THREE TRIPS TO THE MOON

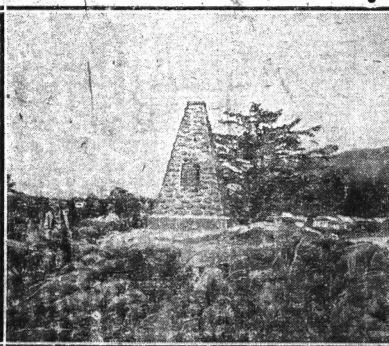

The Trans-Canada Limited, the crack transcontinental express of the Canadian Pacific Railway, operated from May to September, completed its 1924 schedule on September 13th, when its last train started and on September 17th these trains steamed into the terminal at Montreal and Vancouver, bringing to a close one of the service's most successful seasons. The train covers the 2,858 miles of its run between the two cities in 90 hours and its Toronto-Vancouver run of 2,707 miles in 86 hours.

Mr. C. B. Foster, Passenger Traffic Manager, summing up the season's performance, gave out some remarkably interesting figures which afford a partial insight into the magnitude of the task of maintaining such a service. The Trans-Canada Limited began its runs this year on May 18th, and before being discontinued made 119 trips in each direction, or 238 in all. The equipment of the train is limited to one baggage, one dining car, four standard sleepers, one 10-compartment car Vancouver to Montreal, and one 10-compartment car Toronto to Winnipeg, with a drawing room-3-compartment observation sleeper Montreal to Vancouver, plus a local sleeper on the west-bound movement only from Fort William to Winnipeg. Thus the maximum accommodation available in each direction between the East and Winnipeg is forty-eight sections, twenty-three compartments and five drawing rooms, while between Winnipeg and the Coast there are forty-eight sections, thirteen compartments and five drawing rooms. The average number of passengers on the train at night varies from seventy-five to 110 on different sections of the line, but for the 119 days the train was in service last season there was a one-night use of approximately 100,000 berths. The east-bound and west-bound trains together covered 6,292 miles every day, which includes the distance between Montreal and Vancouver, 2,858 miles, and between Toronto and Sault Ste. Marie, 260 miles, covered by each train and its Toronto-Sault Ste. Marie connection. Thus the season's mileage was 758,748 for the 238 trips, or three times the distance from the earth to the moon. Each day four Trans-Canada trains were in motion over the Company's lines in each direction. At 8 A.M. each day, one was west-bound between Carleton Place and Winnipeg, one between Carleton Place and Vancouver, one between Montreal and Vancouver, and one between North End and Vancouver, while at that hour one east-bound was approaching Glacier, one approaching Regina, one east of Fort William and one between Chalk River and Ottawa. Ten complete sets of equipment, of which four were in motion each way every day and one was being cleaned, refitted and turned round at each end of the run, were required to maintain the service.

The year's schedule called for 22 changes of engine on every Trans-Canada run from Montreal to Vancouver and two engines for the Toronto-Sault Ste. Marie connection made by each train. There were 48 engine runs daily for the service. Including these engine-stops, the train made only 26 stops on their whole run. It is on this steady movement at a uniform speed over long distances and not on high speed that the trains maintained their fast schedules over the transcontinental journey and the elimination of all but essential stops resulted in the smooth running for which it is noted. Owing to the necessity of changing trains crews on such a long run, about 14 crews, or about 54 men, were required for one trip on each train, while 48 sleeping and dining-car employees were required for each trip on one train or nearly 400 men for this branch of the Trans-Canada service. None of the hundreds of employees whose duties also associate them with the Trans-Canada Limited, but who do not travel with it, is included in these figures.

Historic Site at Friendly Cove, B.C.

The historic site of the Nootka section of the West Coast was recalled recently when Lieutenant-Governor Walter C. Nichol, of British Columbia, unveiled and dedicated a monument commemorating the explorations of those great English navigators, Captain Cook and Captain Vancouver.

The monument was built under the auspices of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, which placed the monument on the Dominion land owned by the British Columbia government. A large party travelled on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Princess Maguinn for the ceremony and left the steamer at Nootka wharf, boarding launches for the short run to Friendly Cove. The party included Lieutenant-Governor Nichol, H. J. S. Lumley, his secretary, Judge Howay and Mr. Forsyth, Dr. C. S. Newcombe, the well-known historical authority who wrote the "Circumnavigation of Vancouver Island," Prof. W. N. Sage of the University of British Columbia, Mr. R. B. McKim, representing the I.O.G.E., Mr. and Mrs. Howay, Thomas Dewey, late Indian agent for the Queen Charlotte agency and a pioneer of 1859, Dr. David Donald, Mrs. Cave-Browne-Cave, and Professor Macmillan Brown, chancellor of the University of New Zealand. Dr. Macmillan Brown is one of the leading ethnologists of the Pacific, and has been spending the summer on the coast investigating the Indians and their customs.

The new monument is seven feet broad by eleven feet high, with a standard size bronze tablet bearing the following inscription: "Nootka Sound, discovered by Capt. Cook, in March 1778. In June, 1789, Spain took possession and established and maintained a settlement until 1795. The capture of British vessels in 1791 almost led to war, which was avoided by the Nootka Convention, 1790. Vancouver and Quadra met here in August, 1792, to determine the land to be restored under the convention. A feature of the entertainment provided those who took part in the unveiling ceremony was the Indian dancing, arranged by aborigines from Clayoquot Sound, the Williams of the early navigators' journals. Relative plans are afoot for an elaborate present to be held at Friendly Cove, Nootka Sound, in four years time to celebrate the 150th anniversary of events commemorated by the unveiling of the cairn.

Blainmore, Alberta, Oct. 14, 1924

Dear Editor:

As you are supposed to know everything through coming into contact with the philosopher's stone and having sat in the seat with the mighty, will you please in your next issue give me the following information.

As you are aware, the game known as cricket is making rapid advancement all over Canada. Several interesting games were played here last summer, and I believe plans are being made towards the formation of a cricket league next year, to include the following towns—Blainmore, Coleman, Bellevue, Hillebert, Michol, Pincher Creek and possibly Lethbridge, and also games with Calgary. Now, owing to the fact that we in this part of the world have not emerged from the dark ages, caused by the coal mines operating on Saturday afternoon, when practically everyone else is not, some of the games will have to be played on Sundays. Will this be a crime or a wrong thing to do? The reason I ask this question is that the game of golf is played most furiously on Sundays. I play myself on Sundays, but do not see any interruption nor anyone holding up their hands in holy horror.

As we shall be meeting soon to arrange dates, kindly inform me as soon as possible, so that no mistakes will be made.

Yours truly,

A Blainmore Citizen.

IS YOUNGEST OFFICIAL OF CANADIAN PACIFIC

LEO SOLLOWAY

Leo Solloway, recently appointed as Assistant Freight Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway with office at Montreal and supervision over Oriental and Australasian traffic via Pacific Port.

Born in Vancouver in 1885, Mr. Solloway has the distinction now of being the youngest official in Canadian Pacific service, a distinction which he has won through fourteen years' service in the freight department of the Company. He commenced work as stenographer in the steamship export department in Vancouver in 1910, and remained in that department until 1915 when he sailed for active service with the 72nd Highlanders. He returned from overseas in the Fall of 1917 and was attached to the steamship export department in Vancouver until 1918 when he was loaned to the British Ministry of Shipping, acting as assistant to the agent of the Ministry at the Pacific port.

In June 1919, Mr. Solloway went to Montreal as chief clerk to the Atlantic Freight Agent, two years later he was appointed chief clerk to the General Foreign Freight Agent, and last May appointed as Assistant Freight Agent which office has been confirmed by promulgation.

PUBLICITY AND
TOURIST TRAVEL

(By J. Fred Spalding)

The annual meeting of The Tourist Association of South Eastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta will be held in the near future. The association is controlled by the towns of Cranbrook, Fernie, Coleman, Banff, Macleod, High River, Pincher Creek, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, by membership in the Board of Trade or City Council in each of the towns. At this meeting full reports of the year's work will be presented and suggestions for enlarging the association to more than double its present membership will be made. As this increase in size will hardly be feasible unless the present membership remains intact, it might be as well at this time to make public a few facts in connection with the tourist travel and the importance and necessity for increasing the extent of our advertising. With our present membership we cannot hope to obtain a larger yearly sum for our advertising than we have had each year in the past, and although this money has been spent to the very best advantage and the results obtained have been very gratifying, our efforts have been very small and we have only been nibbling at our cake.

There are fifteen million owners of pleasure cars in the United States and half a million in Canada. Last year we distributed 50,000 maps and this year we have distributed 100,000 booklets and 15,000 maps, in all 80,000 pieces, approximately 65,000 of which went into the States. It is like feeding a bag of peanuts to an elephant.

There are certain magazines and newspapers which reach the big majority of motorists, a single advertisement in one of these would reach more of them than all the literature we have distributed since the formation of the association. This class of advertising runs into considerable money, but I believe would produce far better results if tried out for one year, than would the same amount of money spent in any other form of advertising over a period of three years.

As an instance of the effectiveness of this kind of advertising, I read a recent issue of one of the Vancouver papers a statement from Reg. Davison, the publicity man for the department of the Interior, in which it was to the effect that they had carried advertisements in a few of the leading magazines, and that in the process there was a coupon asking parties interested in Vancouver to fill it out and send it for further particulars. These advertisements had only been run for a short time but up to the time he was speaking there had been a surprising response. I don't remember the exact figure he quoted, but my recollection is that over 10,000 coupons had reached their office, and they had come from every nook and corner of the American Continent.

Since the opening of the Banff-Windermere road a great deal too much importance has been placed on concentrating the Rocky Mountain advertising on that particular road as a tourist to Banff and Lake Louise. The greater part of what advertising has been distributed in the State of California. Certain interested parties in Calgary have even recommended this association to discontinue issuing booklets which contain illustrations of our scenery through the Crow's Nest Pass for fear that it might detract from the attractions of Banff and Lake Louise. I have one such letter on file. To my way of thinking, such a suggestion shows considerable ignorance of what the average tourist goes touring for. After ten years rather extensive association with tourists of every class, I am fully convinced that the great majority of them choose trips by which their route will take them through the most interesting country, either historical or scenic. Of course road conditions are taken into consideration, but nowhere near to the extent that the average person thinks. In these days of extensive touring no one expects to find good roads everywhere, and as far as the roads of western Canada are concerned, we have no need to fear comparison with the roads of the International Border. This is the general consensus of opinion of every tourist I have met from the States and also my own opinion.

Undoubtedly Banff and Lake Louise are the principal draw cards for tourists to Western Canada. Why? Simply because of their scenic attractions which have been advertised throughout the world at the cost of many millions of dollars. What is the proportion of touring visitors? Let us take the official figures from the report of the Commissioner of Canadian Parks for 1923. The total number of licenses issued in the Rocky Mountain Park (and every car visiting Banff and Lake Louise or travelling over the Banff-Windermere road has to have one of these licenses) during 1923 was 4218. These are tabulated as follows: From Calgary 2761, other parts of Alberta 199, other parts of Canada 225, from the United States 1199, twenty-nine different States were represented among them.

The Banff-Windermere road was opened on June 30th of this year, and for several months previous to the opening a very intensive advertising campaign was carried on throughout the United States and especially in the State of California. Lecturers with moving pictures featured in every important town in California, the leading papers carried display advertisements featuring the road and making an event of international importance of its opening, yet we find that during the entire year the total number of cars from the whole of the United States was but about one third of the number from Canadian points. Local Calgary cars accounted for considerably more than half of the cars entering that park last year. Up to the time of writing, no official figures for this year have been issued, but judging from the reports I have received from different sources, the percentage of cars from California this year is smaller than that of last year, but on the other hand there has been a very great increase in the number of Canadian cars this year. This being so, it only proves the correctness of my contention from the first—that we should look to our near by Provinces and States, for the preponderance of motoring tourists to the Canadian Rockies. Much as we desire to entice Californians up here, we have not to consider the fact that even in a wealthy State like California the proportion of men with the time and money to go on a tour of over 400 miles, or with the inclination, is quite small compared with the number living closer who have three weeks or a month at the most. They want to go to places where they don't have to spend all their time in driving to get there and back. That is the class of tourist who is not rushing through the country to get to his objective, he loads along, stopping off here, there and everywhere, and the whole country gets a crack at his pocket book. He is out to see all there is to see and will route himself over the route which he wishes to look at and that is why I am certain that the more we publish illustrations of the scenery of the lines of route leading to Banff and Lake Louise, the more tourists we shall attract, and these are the tourists who will be of much greater benefit to the country as a whole than a few of the wealthier class whose one object is to get to places as quickly as they can. It is not the country which gets his money, it is the C. P. R.

We have just as beautiful scenery through the Crow's Nest Pass as there is anywhere in the Rockies and very little is known about it anywhere else. Calgary especially refrains from mention of it, but we are gradually getting it better known and we will manage to induce some of our visitors to spend a day or two along the Crow and Windermere roads. Well, it won't hurt Banff because the increase in numbers brought in by our advertising will more than make up that difference. In taking this over with several of the leading business men in Banff this summer, they were entirely in accord with my way of thinking. It is numbers that tell, and quite agreed with me that Banff would not be hurt in any way by this. Well, it is a tourist from the towns of the Crow's Nest Pass.

One man said I think that too much money is spent in advertising, and that our tourist association can afford to let up a little now that the money is coming in so well. Well, Mister General Public is very fickle and has a very poor memory. Let me give an instance of the increase given me by the best of authority last week whilst I was at Waterton Lakes Park.

Glacier Park, as we all know, has been one of the most widely advertised of the National Parks in America, and up to this year, one of the most popular resorts, the number of visitors to it this year being fifty per cent greater than any former year. Well, it was because of this that its advertising was greatly curtailed this year, whatever the reason however, the results have been disastrous and this season of 1924 has been a failure. Over 500 saddle horses which formerly have been in great demand there until the end of August, were turned out to pasture on August 1st of this year, and on August 15th, many Glacier hotels, with a staff of 65, had only a few of three people as a staff, and closed up several weeks earlier than usual. On the other hand, the Pacific Coast and the Chambers of Commerce of Portland, Seattle, and the Publicity Department of Vancouver have between them spent over a million dollars in advertising the resorts at the coast with the result that 1924 has beaten all records for tourists at travel there. I received an official report from Mount Rainier National Park which stated that on September 7th, the number of visitors there had shown an increase up to then of 25 per cent over the same time of last year and it was expected that if it kept up at a corresponding rate until the end of the season, which in November, this year's figures would show an increase of more than seventy-five per cent over last year. Similar reports come from every resort on the north Pacific coast.

This is convincing proof if we want to increase the tourist travel to these parts that we must keep up our advertising. If an internationally famous place like Glacier Park suffers through lack of advertising, what earthly chance has the Crow's Nest Pass got of becoming popular if it quits. With Calgary interests endeavoring to draw all the travel from the east to Calgary and Banff, by way of Medicine Hat, Brooks and Glenora, to utilize the entire Crow's Nest Pass from Medicine Hat to Cranbrook, the situation is one of very serious moment to every town between these two points, and makes it more imperative than ever that we continue and increase our advertising.

It is my contention that the cost to travel over the Red River is found to become as extensive as the travel over the south to north (Blue Tent) and that the first ten towns on the former trail, Macleod and Cranbrook, have everything to lose and nothing to lose, he doesn't with the association and believe it to carry on an advertising campaign of greatly increased scope.

"I can't do a thing with Jones," said the manager. "I've had him in three departments, and he does all day long."

"That's easy," replied the really efficient efficiency engineer. "Put him at the pyram counter, and fasten this card on him."

"Our night-clothes are of such superior quality that even the man who sells them cannot keep awake."

Here and There

More than one hundred and fifty traders from the Far North arrived in Edmonton, Alta., recently bringing with them for sale to the value of approximately $500,000.

Tarzan Second, the largest wood-saw in the world, was launched recently at the Wallace shipyards, Vancouver, B.C. She is 1,000 tons burden and has 300,000 feet of British Columbia lumber in her make-up. The saw is to be used as a carrier for a great pile-driver for Sydney & Junksins Company.

Two dinosaurs have been located in the Red Deer Valley, Alta., near the Canadian Pacific Railway line this summer, by the University of Toronto expedition, composed of four scientists who prospect for several weeks in the gorge and in packing up the prehistoric monsters for shipment to the Royal Ontario Museum. Another skeleton has been located by the Geological Survey of Canada.

One of the outstanding features of Canadian trade with the Orient during the past year or so has been the remarkable increase in wheat flour exports. Imports of Canadian wheat flour into Hong Kong in 1923 were the largest on record, showing an increase of 100 per cent in volume over those of 1922. The figures and values were: 1922, 79,585 barrels, valued at $126,660; 1923, 191,821 barrels, valued at $249,044.

Zane Grey, the famous novelist, recently caught a 758 pound tuna fish, constituting what is believed to be a world's record. The sea monster was successfully conquered after three hours and ten minutes of arduous endeavor off the Nova Scotia coast, and towed into Liverpool harbor. Mr. Grey's prize is a species of the blue fin family. The record before this catch was held by J. K. L. Ross, the well-known sportsman and fisherman, who caught a 710 pound tuna.

One of the most remarkable achievements in art printing yet produced in Canada and one which finally disposes of the idea that such work cannot be satisfactorily handled by Canadian firms is found in a new booklet issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway dealing with the forthcoming 1925 Round the World cruise of the company's steamship "Empress of France." The booklet contains 49 pages of text and color illustrations, the latter exquisitely combining many brilliant hues in a number of highly imaginative designs.

Canadian Pacific gross earnings for July totaled $1,883,677 as against $15,677,835 for the same month last year, a decrease of $794,150. But in order to meet this reduction, operating expenses were reduced by $1,963,680, those for the month being $12,544,115, as compared with $13,607,802 for July, 1923. Thus the net earnings for the month showed an increase of $269,527 over those of the same month a year ago. For the 7 months of the year to July 30 gross earnings showed an increase of $3,017,255; operating expenses an increase of $1,924,013 and net earnings an increase of $1,093,251.

One of the most diverse and interesting aggregations of passengers ever assembled in Canada left Montreal for Europe on August 20th aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Minnow. It included Majors S. de Beires and Brito Pais, who recently flew from Lisbon to Macao, China, a large party of scientists returning from the recent convention of the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Toronto, Colonel Geo. Ham, general and internationally known "ambassador of the Canadian Pacific" and "Soldier" Jones, Canadian heavyweight boxer.

The first all-British direct cable service between Montreal and London was opened on August 18th by the Canadian Pacific telegraphs. As business warrants, this service will be extended to embrace other Canadian cities with which it is now connected but which, as yet, cannot offer a reasonable return for a regular service. Messages were exchanged between the London Chamber of Commerce and the Montreal Board of Trade and between the Canadian and the English headquarters of the Bank of Montreal, conveying expressions of mutual goodwill and propounding closer relations as a result of the improved cable facilities.

Several carloads of Rebekah members went down to Natal on Saturday evening, to attend the meeting there, at which an official visit was paid by the British Columbia president. A good time is reported.

CANADIAN WHEAT POOLS

Among the things that the farmer should watch are the wheat pools that the Canadian grain-growers have organized. Like their fellows in the United States, the Canadian farmers are disheartened with the old, established ways of marketing their grain, and they are specially anxious that the whole Canadian crop shall not be dumped on the market at the end of the harvest season—a practice that always has an unfortunate effect on the prices that the wheat farmer can command.

Two years ago the Alberta wheat-growers organized a wheat pool of their own after the Dominion government had failed to suggest a practical scheme for marketing the entire Canadian crop. The farmers summoned Mr. Aaron Sapiro, a famous expert in co-operation, to help them establish the pool, and, though they never controlled more than thirty-four million bushels—scarcely ten per cent of the crop—they got prices almost fifty per cent higher than the bulk of the crop brought. The plan worked so well that this year the Saskatchewan farmers fell into line and organized a pool that controls nearly seven million acres of wheat land. Owing to the short crop in Canada this year, everyone is sure of getting a good price for whatever grain he has, but it is expected that the members of the pool will do a great deal better than those farmers who stayed out.

The arrangement differs from some of the selling projects that have been proposed on this side of the line, for the Canadian farmer has not thought of keeping up the price of wheat at home and disposing of his surplus for whatever price he can get for it. His idea is to get as much as he can for his entire crop, but not to charge the consumer in Canada any more than he can get from customers in Great Britain.

Some of the enthusiastic advocates of the cooperative pool believe that the principle can be extended to include the entire world. There is no doubt that it would be to the advantage of the wheat-grower if that education and propaganda. By no means all the grain-growers of the world if pushed to the extreme of production would supply a great deal more wheat than can be sold at a profit. But, though we can imagine a workable arrangement between Canadian farmers and those of the United States to restrict production and control the marketing of wheat, we doubt whether such an arrangement could be extended to other quarters of the globe without a good many years of world.

GIRLS WITH BOBS CAN'T STAY IN MY CHORUS—ZIEGFELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(Special) Florenz Ziegfeld, producer of the "Follies," and international authority on feminine puerility, has declared war on bobbed hair, it was learned today, following his rejection of a number of applicants for chorus places.

"Papa" Ziegfeld last night nailed a bulletin in the chorus dressing rooms. It said that "since bobbed hair was soon to be out of style, every Follies girl must immediately start letting her hair grow long, or wear stylish transformations."

"Members of the company who fail to comply with this order will soon find their places taken by young women who have let their curls grow," warned Mr. Ziegfeld.

"There is more to my objection to bobbed hair among my chorus than the fact that it's becoming out of style," he declared today. "It always did have barbers work on a girl's hair, and have fought it consistently."

"Bobbed hair has 'prussianized' American womanhood. It has made them all alike as two peas in a pod. It has destroyed that elusive and priceless quality which the woman of charm must have—personality. Bobbed hair is a symptom of that sheep-like inattentiveness which distinctive women abhor."

"I first permitted bobbed haired girls to enter my chorus several years ago when I was seeking a slim, boyish type for a particular feature number. But in my tableaux I have insisted upon truly feminine women with luxurious, uncut hair—because they personify the finest in American womanhood."

"Bobbed hair is dishonest. It advertises to the world that a girl or married woman wants you to believe she is youthful. If a woman is really alive with youth—mentally and physically—she need not resort to the standardized, artificial mob-habit of hair mutilation."

Bobbed hair may be all right, according to Mr. Ziegfeld, on the day-time tennis court or in the swimming pool. But in the evening, at social gatherings, the immaculate woman of fashion insists on a charming coiffure that no bob can provide.

"Observe the distinctive women of allure and charm at fashionable events these days," he went on. "Almost invariably they have uncut hair—done in graceful fashion that harmonizes and brings out their individual attractiveness, or else, they have adopted graceful, pleasing transformations to hide their bobs."

"So I have told my girls that they cannot stay in the Follies chorus unless they let their hair grow. Bobbed hair will soon be out of style. My chorus must always be leaders in fashionable appearance."

The Age of Innocence

The patter of tiny feet was heard from the head of the stairs. Mrs. Kinderly raised her hand, warning the members of the bridge club to be silent.

"Hush!" she said softly. "The children are going to deliver their good night messages. It always gives me a feeling of reverence to hear them. Listen!"

There was a moment of tense silence, then "Mamma," came a shrill whisper, "Willie found a bed-bug!"

A Scot wanted a tombstone to put over his wife's grave. "I've got a slab of stone which will do," said the bereaved husband, "so you need only charge for the lettering." He told the stone mason. "But the slab is too narrow for the inscription," said the stone cutter. "Oh, make it do." He did. The inscription was to be: "Lord, she was thin." There was no room for the last letter, and the epitaph read: "Lord, she was thin."

THE PASS SIXTEEN YEARS AGO

(From The Frank Paper, 1908)

March 28.—Two unfortunate accidents, for which apparently no one was responsible, occurred in the mine of the International Coal & Coke Company at Coleman during the week, resulting in the death of Edward Larsen, a miner, and William Hamilton, engineer of one of the compressed-air locomotives. Larsen was struck by a fall of rock and Hamilton fell from his engine near the mine entry and was crushed to death.

April 16.—Murder most foul was committed in Frank in the early hours of Sunday last. Constable G. E. Wilmet, of the Royal North Mounted Police, was done to death while on patrol duty in connection with an effort on the part of the police to ferret out petty burglaries. The murder is the first capital crime ever committed in Frank and the most atrocious ever committed in The Pass district.

April 23.—The International Coal Co., of Coleman, established two new output records last week. Tuesday the output reached the big total of 2716 tons and on Wednesday 1887 tons during one shift.

June 4.—Extensive changes in the track of the Crows' Nest line of the C. P. R. in this district are contemplated. The change is part of the C. P. R.'s grade revision scheme promulgated over a year ago, whereby the company proposes to reduce the grades on all western lines to a minimum. The plans call for the moving of the track from Brockton on the east to a little west of Blairmore and between these points the road will practically be rebuilt. The station at Pincher City will be moved north several hundred feet and the line will run something like a mile north of Cowley. It is said to be the intention to move the town of Cowley to the new line. Coming further west, the line crosses to the south of the present track and instead of crossing the Old Man at the present bridge at the falls, will keep on the bench and cross at the big bend near Henry Gibson's ranch. It then takes to the table land on the north side and comes into Bellevue through the townsite, giving Bellevue a station. Through Frank the track will be as at present, but near Blairmore will pass along the bench north of the town.

June 18.—The Pass is to have a good wagon road at last, to extend all the way from the prairie to Crows' Nest Lake.

She remained on the nest three weeks and at the end of that time there were no chickens hatched. As I did not care for ducks, I took her off the nest and sold the eggs."

The entire crew of Chihuahua and Oriente combination-freight and passenger train of nine men, including one unidentified American, were killed by five bandits who escaped with a $30,000 payroll in Mexico on October 10th. It is believed that two of the bandits were Americans.

Here and There

The Earl of Lathlin, Irish peer, who has been touring Canada, was much struck with the resemblance between north-west Ireland and the maritime provinces, with their wooded hills, sandy beaches and plenty of fish and game, as playgrounds for the tourist.

What is believed to be the largest salmon ever caught by hook and line in waters adjacent to Vancouver, B.C., was landed at Horseshoe Bay, Howe Sound, recently by A. C. Cohen. The fish measured four feet, one inch in length and weighed 64 pounds. It took 25 minutes to land it.

Irwin S. Cobb, the famous American humorist, has been hunting in the St. Maurice valley, served by Canadian Pacific lines. This is by no means his first trip to Canadian hunting and fishing centres, as he is a keen sportsman and has visited the wilds in Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Among the passengers landing at Quebec from the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Scotland," recently was Miss Margaret Bondfield, M.P., a member of the Cabinet of the Macdonald Government of Great Britain. Miss Bondfield is in Canada to study conditions as they affect female immigrants.

Some interesting facts were made public by E. J. Belleisle, superintendent of the fish and game department of the Province of Quebec, when in Montreal recently. The province is now teeming with wild life, he says, mainly because of its conservation policy, whereby preserves are rented to fish and game clubs on the understanding that they appoint wardens. There are 500 such clubs employing a total of over 1,000 wardens.

The Trans-Canada Limited, crack transcontinental express of the Canadian Pacific Railway, completed its last run of the season on September 17th, and will not be operated again until next May. The train, which is the fastest long-distance express in North America, covered 758,748 miles in the season, or three times the distance between the earth and the moon, in its 238 runs, and carried the equivalent of 95,000 passengers for varying distances.

The new wing of the Chateau Lake Louise, the Canadian Pacific Railway's hotel at Lake Louise, one of the choicest beauty spots in the Rockies, is now under construction to replace that portion destroyed by fire some months ago. It will be a nine-story, fire-proof, steel-frame structure of stucco, brick and stone, richly furnished in the best style of a mountain hotel, and will contain 280 bedrooms, bringing the total in the hotel up to 390.

The hunt for fur is extending northward each year, according to officials of the Hudson's Bay Company and Revillon Freres. They have already dispatched their steamers on their annual tour of the northern posts, which each season are being located farther and farther north as the field of the peli hunters is extended into the Arctic.

The Hudson's Bay Company now has a numerous chain of posts in Baffinland and other areas north of Hudson Strait.

The War To End War

How often during the fatal years 1914 to 1918, while the colossal struggle between Germany and the Allies was in progress was heard the expression that this was a war to end war. This idea was embodied in the appeals made by all Allied Governments to their people to loyally and even cheerfully bear the heavy burdens being imposed upon them and to endure the terrible sacrifices they were called upon to make. Thousands of husbands and fathers fought and suffered and died declaring it was worth while if by such sacrifice the world of mankind was to be forever freed from the horrors of war. "Never again" was the watchword of these heroic souls as, dying, they felt assured their descendants would never be called upon to face what they had endured.

But although the bugles sounded "Cease fire" along the great battle line on November 11, 1918, the war to end war was not then concluded. It is not yet concluded. Wars are even now in progress in different parts of the world, but more significant than these local struggles is the fact that, even with the elimination of Russia, the European Allies in the Great World War have a larger number of men under arms today than Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria, had when the Great War began in 1914.

Today the peace strength of France, Italy, Britain, Poland, Rumania, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia is 1,937,000 men, while in 1914 the peace strength of Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey was 1,654,995, or nearly half a million less.

The financial burden imposed on these war-impaired countries in maintaining nearly two million men in military idleness is an appalling one. Important advances have been made in reduction in naval armaments, and it is probable that more will follow, but as yet the even greater menace to the peace of the world constituted by huge standing armies exists.

The whole race of mankind must rejoice, therefore, that the League of Nations is taking no alone unturned to bring about, first, a binding agreement among all nations calculated to make war almost impossible of outbreak and banish it from among the calculations which today every European country has to consider, and, secondly, to bring about an early and drastic reduction in all standing armies and armaments along lines which are proving effective in the reduction of navies and naval expenditures.

Some people still scoff at the League of Nations. They criticize and condemn it because it has not accomplished more. Yet when its achievements in the six years which have elapsed since the Covenant was drafted and signed are studied, the amazing thing is not what it has failed to do in that short space of time, but that it has accomplished so much, and has secured such a large measure of confidence among the nations of the world. The influence of the League of Nations is the most powerful factor in international affairs today.

Beneficial and effective in so many ways as the work of the League has proven to be, its recent achievement in drafting a protocol of peace which received the unanimous approval of the representatives of every nation now a member of the League, and the equally unanimous approval given by such representatives to the plan for a great world conference on disarmament, and their united demand upon all Governments to proceed with the least possible delay in giving individual Parliamentary approval to the peace protocol, is easily the most important and far-reaching effort of the League and one that holds promise of heralding a new era in world history.

The effect of the concord displayed at Geneva is seen in the speeches delivered by two Generals who were active participants in the Great War, one a German, the other a Frenchman. General Veaux (French) and General Verhaeghe (German) united in stating to the World Peace Council at Berlin that, "only complete general disarmament can save the world." General Verhaeghe declared that "little armies are as dangerous as big ones," and General Von Schoenbach said that most generals of the old regime knew that their theories were wrong, but had not the courage to confess it. He promised to support the movement looking to the abandonment of military service.

The war to end war is, therefore, moving forward to victory. This really glorious war is not yet won. To achieve complete victory calls for the enlistment of every right-thinking man and woman to bring the last ounce of pressure to bear on Government in each and every country in order that strong national support for the League of Nations plan for universal disarmament will be forthcoming.

A Fertile Southern Area
The Hutterites residing in the southern part of the province are three hundred and thirty acres on stubble, and 56 bushels an acre of summer wheat. That is the record of an industrious and enterprising people, whose religion and political views created an amount of opposition during the war. No person can question their worth as tillers of the soil.—Calgary Alberta.

Canada's Envious Position
"I confidently predict that the next ten years will be the most prosperous in Canada's history," declared the Hon. P. C. Larkin, High Commissioner for Canada in London. "Without doubt Canada is in a far better position today than any other country in the world."

Hope For Cancer Cure

Toronto May Achieve Another Triumph in a Curative Treatment.
Sir David Fowler, a well known practicing physician, formerly consulting physician to King's College Hospital, and to the National Hospital for the Paralyzed and Epileptic, in an address to the Hospital Medical School, London, on the problem of a cure for cancer, referred to Dr. P. G. Bantling's discovery of the "nasal treatment" for diabetes and said that hopes had been raised that Toronto would achieve another magnificent triumph in the discovery of a curative cancer treatment. However, British hopes in the latter regard, have not yet been fulfilled.

The medical profession need not despair, Sir David said, about a cancer cure being discovered, for some time, but the members of the profession should not be over- sanguine concerning investigations now being carried on in connection with a possible cure.

Sir Humphrey Rolleston, president of the Royal College of Physicians, of London, urged that there should be one physician to every 1,000 people. He regretted that the entrance to the medical profession had fallen off considerably of late. This was especially the case with regard to women entering the profession.

Head of Mohammedans Asks For Member of Royal Family

The forthcoming visit of Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught to India has brought the question of the viceroyalty of that Empire to the fore. The viceroyalty that might be offered to the Prince, India has been asking for some time that a member of the Royal family should be sent to India as the next viceroy. Aga Khan, head of the Mohammedans, has stated that an appointment would lift the viceroy out of party politics. The name of the Duke of York has been suggested also, but his appointment is unlikely.

Britain's First Aerial Battleship

Weighs Nine Tons and Travels Two Miles Per Minute

The world's largest and most powerful single-engine aeroplane—Britain's first aerial battleship—made its trial flight from Brough Aerodrome recently. The pilot, Flight Lieutenant Paul Bulman, one of the most distinguished pilots of the Royal Air Force, looked like a speck by the side of this leviathan of the skies, which can travel at two miles a minute for more than 1,000 miles without having to replenish its fuel.

It is a marvellous machine, the result of aeronautical design, and includes features which are kept secret. It is intended to play a leading part in the air defence of the British Islands, and is officially designated a coastal defence plane.

This machine, known as the "Cubaroo," was specially built by the Blackburn Aircraft Company to take the 1,000 h.p. Napier Cub engine, the most powerful aero engine yet built and successfully flown.

The single propeller, whirled around at an enormous speed by this mighty engine, is more than one and one-half times the size of a billiard table. The tail plane alone, which is of the bi-plane type, is as large as an average aeroplane.

The gross weight of the machine exceeds nine tons. From wing tip to wing tip it measures 88 feet, its length is 54 feet, and at its highest part it is more than 19 feet from the ground. It is planned as a three-seater, and has sufficient room in the main cockpit for two pilots to sit side by side.

A staircase leads to the pilot's cockpit, and there is a second staircase from the cabin to a gun turret behind the wings. All the vulnerable parts of the machine are well protected.

It was not, of course, equipped for action, but when in action it will be able to carry aloft more than three tons of bombs or torpedoes, thickened its wings or slung below the fuselage.

The wings of the glang can be folded back flush against the sides of the fuselage, so that the machine can be housed in the smallest possible space.

Air experts from all parts of the world gathered to see Flight Lieutenant Bulman handle "Cubaroo" on its test flight recently.

The flight lasted about half an hour, and the pilot was enthusiastic about the behavior of the machine. "She is wonderful," he told me. "She responded with absolute ease to every movement."

Japanese Women In Canada

Immigration From Japan Appears To Be On The Increase

The immigration of Japanese women, which has been the subject of negotiations between the Canadian and Japanese Governments in connection with the interpretation of the "gentlemen's agreement," appears to again be on the increase, according to statistics published by the Department of Immigration. During the last fiscal year, 232 Japanese women came to Canada, while for the first five months of the present fiscal year, the number was 129, or the rate of about 230 for a full year.

The average number of Japanese women immigrants into Canada during the last six years, however, was 531.

The number of Japanese adult males entering the Dominion during the last five months was 101. These were divided as follows:

Farmers; 49; laborers; 27; mechanics; 2; traders; 12; and not classified; 2. During the last fiscal year, the number of Japanese immigrants other than women was 215. The present "gentlemen's agreement," which limits the number of farmer and laborer immigrants at 150 annually, came into effect in August of last year.

Women's Rights In Japan. Advocates of women's rights in Japan are advancing. As proof of the women's increasing interest in political affairs, the fact that of 14,000 persons who occupied seats in the Diet during its extraordinary session, in August, 4,000 were women. No previous session of the Diet has had so many women visitors.

Not Worth The Risk. "I know that I am not good enough for you," he told her. "I don't intend to give you a chance to prove it," she replied.

Scientists Make Strange Discovery

Expedition Into Olympic Mountains Find Worms That Live In Ice

A species of worm that lives only in ice and cannot withstand even the heat of a human hand, has been found and photographed by a scientific expedition that recently went into the Olympic mountains.

The ice on Dowdell-Herby Pass in the Olympics was found literally alive with these worms. They are black, thin and about half an inch long. When the sun is out they crawl into the interior of the ice where the temperature is lower. Scientists with the party said that so far as they knew these worms never had been found before in the United States.

While the worms were photographed, it was impossible to get any of them out of the mountains alive. When the party returned, they began to melt, they died immediately. What they live on is still a mystery.

Sees End Of Hertzog Government

Former Premier Smuts of South Africa Confident That Change Is Coming

Former Premier C. S. Smuts, of South Africa, in a speech at Maritzburg, according to the London Daily Telegraph's Cape Town correspondent, referred to recent speeches by supporters of the Hertzog Government suggesting that the nationalists would be in power in South Africa for all time and he prophesied that the present Government would be put sooner than the South African party, of which Mr. Smuts is leader, really desired.

The former premier said that personally he was anxious that the country should have full opportunity of putting the promises of the nationalists, as well as their statesmanship, to a practical test. He added that his worst fears as to the Hertzog Government were already being realized.

Images Date Back To 500 B.C.

In Ireland they find more of the mysterious porcelain images of apes which have been dug up over there, 50 found since year 1780, in widely scattered places.

Chinese scholars claim these porcelain images are of Chinese origin, including their peculiar physiognomies, and date back to the year 500 B.C. How did they get to Ireland? Did Chinese explorers travel that far. The ancient history of China, as it comes to light, will be fascinating.

Future Advertising

Anglo-Saxon Nations Will Let World Know They Stand For Constructive Policy

What Lord Waring said recently in London concerning the great International Advertising convention struck a keynote which is prophetic and inspiring in its promise. "I believe," he said, "the time will come when England and America will advertise throughout the world that they stand together for all time for honesty, truth and service; for a policy which will lead the world to realize that every member of every nation is interested, that strenuous efforts, and friendly rivalry mean prosperity and are constructive, and that war is suicidal, negative and destructive." When that day dawns, the problems of the nations will largely be solved automatically.—Christian Science Monitor.

Was Troubled With Her Heart and Nerves For Years

Mrs. James Nuttall, Nappan Station, N. S. W., writes: "I think it my duty to tell you about what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me."

For years I was troubled with my heart and nerves, and was so bad, at times, I would faint away and fall right down where I was sitting or standing, and after one of these attacks I would sometimes be in bed for weeks at a time and feeling that life was not worth living.

I finally started on the use of MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

COMPANY WILL HANDLE ASSETS OF HOME BANK

Toronto.—An incorporated limited company, operating under a Dominion charter, will be formed to take over the assets of the defunct Home Bank, according to Liquidator G. T. Clark.

The organization will be called Home Bank Assets, Limited, and under an amendment recently secured by Mr. Clark to the Federal Winding-up Act, will be able to take over the assets of the Home Bank for other than cash consideration.

This company will have its legal advisors, and will have its cost defrayed from its treasury, the proceeds of course, coming from the funds of the defunct Home Bank. As liquidator, Mr. Clark will be compensated for his work in the way of a salary allowance. There will be no payments made to him or to his firm under the head of commissions, on the sum of the assets handled. Thus, depositors, shareholders and others will be able to secure a hint at any time on what the administration of the assets of the bank is costing. There should be little confusion in the matter. If the Dominion Government later reimbursed depositors, the assets of the company could be turned over to the Government.

How Crime Was Discovered

Wolfe's Secret Leads to Discovery of Murdered Boy

Vancouver.—A black north land wolf came out of the timber shore on the Lamard River and followed a scent which attracted him. He found where it came from beneath the earth and he dug to reach it. Under the soil he found a layer of logs and was told in his efforts.

The wolf was an agent of Providence and an innocent assistant to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. His act led to the discovery of the concealed body of a 17-year-old boy, Morrison, of Atol, who had been killed a few months before by members of his tribe because he was suspected of being in league with evil spirits.

The escorts of R.C.M.P. officers brought in five Indians, believed to have been connected with the murder of the boy to the city on the steamer Princess Alice from Wrangell for trial.

Danish Disarmament Bill

Socialist Government Would Abolish the Army and Navy

Copenhagen.—The Socialist Government presented to Parliament its disarmament bill virtually abolishing the Danish army and navy and doing away with the military service law.

For the army would be substituted a corps of guards to assist the frontier and customs gendarmerie and police in guarding the boundaries of the country and in maintaining order. The corps would consist of only 7,246 men, officered from the ranks, and would not be organized as an army against an enemy. The present navy would be replaced by coastguard ships for the protection of national interests within Danish territorial waters.

It is understood debate on the bill will be postponed until late in December. Veteran parliamentarians do not believe it is likely to be enacted.

Conference On Taxation

To Define Definitely Federal and Provincial Taxation

Windsor.—A conference on taxation with all the provinces and the Federal Government represented, will be held in Ottawa on Nov. 11, it is announced by Hon. F. M. Bell, provincial treasurer of Manitoba, now in the east, who has been in communication with Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance.

The conference has for its objective the definite marking out of the fields respectively of federal and provincial taxation, on which there is some uncertainty, and some overlapping, by those entrusted with raising public money.

Says British Race Is Not Decadent

Toronto.—Refuting statements that the British race was decadent, Mr. H. H. A. J. Fisher, former British Minister of Education, in an address here, made prophecies of a civilization in Canada distinct from that of the United States or England but embodying all the best elements of the latter. Mr. Fisher said he thought that the political system of Canada, derived from Great Britain's, had advantages over that of the United States and stated that the legal system of the British was a matter of pride.

Settle War Claims

Adjustment Made Between Canada and Germany Over Claims Covering Large Amounts

Ottawa.—All of the smaller outstanding claims of Canada against Germany, and of Germany against Canada, have been adjusted as a result of negotiations carried on by Mr. J. M. Mulvey, Under-Secretary of State, who latterly has been assisted by Hon. Raoul Dandurand. The Government here has approved the settlement arrived at. The amounts involved aggregate nearly a million dollars.

The adjustment reached is in the nature of a saw-off. The Canadian Department of State will take care of the Canadian claimants against Germany, utilizing for the purpose certain funds now in the hands of the custodian of alien enemy properties, while Germany will attend to similar claimants in her territory.

By the settlement arrived at, all smaller claims have been wiped off the books. They are mostly commercial accounts. Only the larger ones remain. The total claims are 1,281, German claims 211, and withdrawn 1,070. Canadian claims against Germany in the category dealt with have been reduced to five. Rapid progress is being made in the adjustment of the whole situation. The cases which Mr. Mulvey is dealing with are quite distinct from those in which reparations are sought from Germany by reason of illegitimate methods of warfare. These have been the subject of investigation by the commissioner, Hon. William Pugsley, who has just concluded a number of hearings in the Maritime Provinces.

German Loan

Practically Assured

Successful Flotation Is Now Viewed As a Certainty

Berlin.—German officials and confidential participation in the £200,000,000 Dawes plan loan to Germany, to an extent which will definitely insure its successful flotation, is now viewed as a certainty in German official circles, where the progress of the loan negotiations has stimulated a pronounced feeling of optimism. Chancellor Marx says the common people see in the loan a means of stabilizing Germany's finances, while its failure on the other hand would be bound to have a far-reaching effect on the entire situation, and might even mean the collapse of the Dawes plan.

New York.—General Bramwell Booth, head of the Salvation Army, with headquarters in London, arrived on the Homeric on his way to Canada, where he will conduct the annual congresses in Toronto and Winnipeg. He said he had a heavy programme before him, as he will conduct 36 meetings.

Gandhi in Weak State

London.—Mahatma Gandhi, the Indian non-co-operation leader, is in a very weak condition after terminating his 21 days' fast in penance for the Hindu-Muslim rioting, according to special dispatches from Calcutta. There is no hope for anxiety, however.

Turks Re-opening Foreign Schools

Paris.—General Gourko, who has been to the French Government missions in Ankara, announced that the Turkish Government had agreed to the re-opening of the French schools and all other foreign schools in Turkey.

Advices League Entry

Boston.—An appeal to the United States to become a member of the League of Nations was made here by former United States Supreme Court Justice, J. H. Clark, speaking at the annual dinner of the Canadian Club. "Unless we find a way to end war, it will end us," he said.

Western Horses For Russia

Windsor.—Shipment of 1,000 horses, purchased in Western Canada for the Soviet Government of Russia, probably will commence in two weeks' time, according to Edward Kealey, of Kealey Springs, Sask., during an interview here.

Agreement Not Possible

British Government Cannot Grant Demands Made By Egypt

London.—A letter written by Premier MacDonald, declaring that the attitude adopted by Said Zagloul Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, rendered impossible for the moment an agreement between the British and Egyptian Governments on the questions left for eventual settlement, when the British protectorate was withdrawn in 1922, has been issued by the Foreign Office in the form of a white paper.

The letter is addressed to the British High Commissioner for Egypt and the Sudan. It says that pending some future agreement between the two countries, the duty of preserving order in the Sudan rests upon His Majesty's Government. "And," the premier adds, "they will take every step necessary for this purpose."

Said Zagloul Pasha makes five demands for modifications in Egyptian status, namely, withdrawal of all the British forces from Egyptian territory; withdrawal of the financial and judicial advisors; disappearance of all British control over the Egyptian Government, notably in connection with foreign relations; abandonment by the British Government of their claim to protect foreigners and minorities in Egypt; and abandonment by the British of their claim to share, in any way, in protecting the Suez Canal.

WHAT LED TO LABOR DEFEAT IN GREAT BRITAIN

London.—Great Britain's first Labor Government virtually came to an end when, by a combination of Conservative and Liberal votes, the House of Commons carried a motion demanding that a select committee of the House investigate the action of the Attorney-General, Sir Patrick Hastings, in withdrawing prosecution in the case of the Communist, James R. Campbell, editor of the Workers Weekly, for his motion of censure and vote on the British Isles of a Canadian motor-train similar to that operated in France by the Canadian Government and railways last year. Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, expressed sympathy with the project, and stated that if the Canadian Pacific was approached by the Government to co-operate in such a scheme, he would be willing to recommend it, and assist it to a reasonable extent.

The Government declined to accept the motion, and treated it as a vote of censure, which, if adopted by the House, would involve an appeal to the country against Parliament's verdict.

The debate was sharp and exciting, and after it was closed the opposition wanted to drop Sir Herbert Morrison's motion of censure and vote on the Simon amendment. This was equivalent to the defeat of the censure motion, and the Simon amendment became the substantive motion, and was carried, 364 to 198. Announcement of the figures was received with loud cheering and counter-cheering. The Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald, immediately arose and said: "In view of what has happened, Mr. Speaker, I move that the House now adjourn."

Turkish Situation Serious

British May Have To Drive Troops From Mosul District

While the eyes of all are turned to the election and the political crisis that has arisen so suddenly, the situation in Mosul is causing more anxiety in official circles. The Turks absolutely refuse to reply to British troops over the frontier and the number of these troops including many remnants of the regular army is rapidly increasing. Unless the Turks cease these movements immediately, the British will start to drive them out with aeroplanes and the modern implements of war.

Wins Scholarship

G. A. CUSSON,

winner of the Province of Quebec Scholarship for Music, known as the "Patsy Price," which entitles him to three years study in Paris, photographed aboard the Canadian Pacific S.S. Minnedosa, bound for Europe. The award of the scholarship to Mr. Cusson was not considered extraordinary by those who know his command of the Piano, but it is remarkable that one who has been blind since birth should have qualified for the distinction. Mr. Cusson travelled alone under the care of the Canadian Pacific Orphan and Blind Children's Home, and has taken residence with the Institute National for the Blind, where he will stay during his studies in Paris.

Mr. Beatty Favors Exhibition Train

President of Canadian Pacific Agrees On Necessity For British Publicity

Commenting on the interview with Mr. Maury, Director of the College Des Hautes Etudes Commerciales, published in The Gazette, regarding the proposed operation throughout the British Isles of a Canadian motor-train similar to that operated in France by the Canadian Government and railways last year, Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, expressed sympathy with the project, and stated that if the Canadian Pacific was approached by the Government to co-operate in such a scheme, he would be willing to recommend it, and assist it to a reasonable extent.

"We all appreciate, I think," said Mr. Beatty, "that anything that can be done to stimulate the right class of immigrants from Great Britain, will be a step in the right direction. British immigration, while showing an improvement over last year, is yet disappointing, and while the Government, the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National have been, and are doing what it is possible to do, yet I am fully aware that there are many districts, especially in the northern portions of Scotland and Ireland, where little is known about the opportunities for agriculturists in this country."

On a small scale, with one exhibition van, we have been covering parts of England for years, but so thickly are the towns and villages located, and so great the population that it has been manifestly impossible to reach other than a small portion of the people.

"The British Empire Exposition which closes this month at Wembley, has brought Canada prominently before all those who had the good fortune to attend it as well as to many through the medium of the daily and weekly press, but only a very small proportion of the population—that is the class of people whom we desire to interest—either visited the exposition or were reached through the British press."

"I do not favor the operation of a full train of 30 motor vans, as was done in France, but rather the operation of eight to ten exhibition vans displaying Canada's natural resources and agricultural products as well as an apparatus to enable a daily projection of motor picture films in the open air, over exhibits at Wembley Exposition, were productive of general publicity, but the operation of a motor train as suggested, would bring Canada in direct touch with millions of people. In the towns and villages of France, where the exhibition was turned out, it was a free exhibition and entertainment and naturally drew the public. During the past summer, our own exhibition van covered nearly 2,500 miles in Southern, Central and Northern England, visited 134 cities, towns and villages, and attended 19 agricultural shows. It began to operate early in May, and continued until the end of August."

"What we have been able to do with good results, on a small scale," concluded Mr. Beatty, "should be productive of greater results on a large scale, and, in the modified form I have suggested, I am inclined to favor the project."

Postpone Round Table Empire Conference

Ottawa.—Postponement of the round table conference, as announced in London, had been expected in official circles here. The present month was tentatively suggested for the holding of the conference, but there were difficulties in the way, especially so far as the more distant Dominions were concerned. Furthermore, with the present crisis in the domestic politics of Great Britain, it was thought unlikely the MacDonald Government would care to proceed with the conference.

Souvenir Hunters Enter Peace Palace

Presidential Hammer Has Been Stolen From Council Table

The Hague.—Even the hallowed precincts of Andrew Carnegie's Peace Palace are not safe from the depredations of souvenir hunters, it seems, for it has become known that the presidential hammer which was stolen from the council table of the permanent court of international justice.

The hammer is artistically carved of ebony and about 12 inches long. It was presented to the court by the Senate of Leyden University in 1922.

It has been missing since August 26, and information leading to its recovery is requested by The Hague Chief of Police.

LOW GRADING OF WHEAT CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT

Regina.—A request for an immediate investigation of the whole question of grading wheat was referred to the Board of Grain Commissioners at Wheat Pool.

The telegram sent to the Board of Grain Commissioners from the meeting of the Wheat Pool directors read as follows: "In view of extreme dissatisfaction and large number of complaints being made by farmers regarding grading of wheat by inspectors' department. Board of Directors of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool recommend that an immediate investigation into the whole matter of grading should be made without delay."

The question of grading was discussed at an informal conference between directors of the pool, the Central Board of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association and representatives of the Farmers' Union of Canada. Donald MacLennan, general manager of the pool, spoke on various phases of grading and a general discussion followed, the meeting lasting over two hours.

Calgary.—Protesting that the standard by which wheat has been graded has been arbitrarily raised to a higher level than last year, although the Grain Standards Board itself has not yet met, and that, in consequence, the producers are suffering a very heavy loss, more than 100 farmers of the Calgary district, south of here, have made an urgent request to Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and to the Board of Grain Commissioners, to give the matter their immediate attention.

Treaty To Be Proclaimed

Ottawa.—Canada's trade treaty with Australia will come into effect by proclamation on a date to be decided by the two Governments. Further details available, show that the chief concessions granted by Canada in the Australian market are 50 cent cash, paper and chassis. On canned fish Canada gets the British preferential rate of a penny per pound, as against an intermediate tariff of 1 1/2¢, and a general tariff of 3 1/2¢.

ELECTIONS TO BE HELD IN BRITAIN ON OCTOBER 29

London.—Events following the Government's defeat have moved with quite unusual expedition. The Prime Minister obtained royal assent to the dissolution of Parliament, which was prorogued with the usual formalities, and immediately dissolved by the King's proclamation, the Privy Council for these formalities meeting at the unusual hour of seven o'clock in the evening.

The King, as always, omitted no courtesy in meeting the Labor Premier's wishes, despite the fact that the unaccustomed hour had got the formalities provided for by the constitution through in somewhat of a novelty. The date has been fixed for Wednesday, Oct. 29.

Premier MacDonald had two reasons for choosing the date of the elections as much as possible—first, a desire to avoid inconvenience to the business community and the public interest generally, and second, the necessity of holding the general elections on some date which would not conflict with the English municipal elections, scheduled for November 1. Mr. MacDonald and his party conceive themselves as on a wave of popularity, and, therefore, considered it advisable to hasten the elections to the utmost. To achieve this end, they even sacrificed the pet Labor idea of holding the elections on Saturday, when the workers have more leisure to record their votes.

Air Defence For Australia

Many Applications To Join Citizens' Air Force

London.—The London Daily Telegraph Sydney correspondent cables that Wing Commander Goble, chief of the Australian air staff, in giving evidence before the Federal Public Works Committee on the proposed air force station at Richmond, New South Wales, said Sydney was one of the most important and strategic centres in the Commonwealth and that steps should be taken without delay for its defence. The proposed plan of air defence is spread over seven years, and provides for the formation of air units as the permanent nucleus of one-third the total strength, the two-thirds being drawn from volunteer forces.

It is expected there will be many applications to join the citizen's air force.

May Appoint Dr. T. J. O'Leary

Ottawa.—Dr. H. M. T. O'Leary, President of Alberta University, is expected to be the permanent head of the Research Council of Canada when the re-organization now under way is completed. At the last session of Parliament, legislation was passed to put the council on a more independent basis, and to enable it to work out gradually a system of investigation such as is being carried on by the American Bureau of Standards.

Japan Reserves Decision

Tokyo.—Japan will not decide its attitude toward the protocol of arbitration and security voted by the League of Nations at Geneva till after the November presidential election in the U.S. and the British political situation is settled. Baron Shidehara, Foreign Minister, told the Privy Council.

The outcome of the political situation in the United States and Great Britain will be leading factors in the Japanese decision, it was declared.

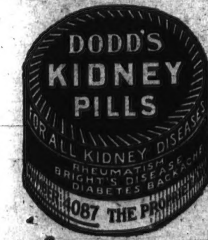

Imperial Conference Postponed

London.—The proposed Imperial conference in London this fall is now definitely postponed, no matter what happens in connection with the British political situation, the Canadian Press learns authoritatively.

Cigarette smoking has become so common that few parents realize how the habit has grown. By encouraging boys of seven and eight years of age to collect cards placed in cigarette packages the manufacturers have made children quite familiar with cigarettes before they know anything about the effect smoking has upon the growing boy. Now a cigarette maker offers to send a free sample package to all boys who haven't learned to smoke. There ought to be some way of protecting boys from such seductive temptations. Next thing we'll have similar offers of samples of other dopes under some misleading name. This summer the use of cigarettes, amongst boys of twelve and under has grown rapidly.—Orilla Packet.
